Welcome to ACEVO

Supporting, inspiring and empowering you
through every stage
of your career as a civil society leader

ACEVO's vision is to see civil society leaders making the biggest possible impact.

Together with our network we inspire and support civil society leaders through connection, skills and influence.

For nearly 40 years, we have provided support, development and a collective campaigning voice for our members across the UK. Our network includes the leaders of small, community based groups, ambitious medium-sized organisations, and large well known national and international not-for-profits.

This handbook highlights all the benefits that being part of our network brings, from strengthening your leadership skills to getting the most out of your board and teams, and connecting with your peers.

Strengthen your leadership skills

Good leaders never stop learning. That's why ACEVO is dedicated to providing our members with tailored support, training and development

ACEVO Community

The ACEVO Community is an exclusive online space for ACEVO members to connect, share experiences, and support one another. It's a trusted network of peers who understand the challenges you face – offering practical insights and real-world advice you won't find on a search engine.

As soon as you join ACEVO, you gain full access to the Community. You'll also receive a daily email digest highlighting the latest discussions, so you can stay up to date with the issues and ideas shaping the sector in real time.

→ Ask the Community

Member directory

A digital space where members can explore our network of more than 1,700 civil society leaders and start building meaningful new connections. Whether you're curious about who else is leading in your region, working in a similar area of activity, or bringing skills you'd love to learn from, the directory makes it easy to find the people who can inspire, support, and strengthen your leadership.

I have used the advice line a number of times and love the fact they make you feel like there are no stupid questions, they just do everything they can to support and provide information. I would recommend it to anyone who feels unsure about their next move in any situation. The advice given was a great confidence boost, friendly and extremely informative.”

Katie Antill, joint CEO, Alzheimer's & Dementia Support Services

I don't think I could have done my job this year without that Community. There have been so many occasions this year where I've had to find someone, or find a policy, and I'd be scratching my head thinking where do I go? And I've gone to that Community and they have always delivered me an answer, a solution, somewhere to go, someone to speak to, or a recommendation. It has been absolutely life changing for me.”

Paul Whiteing, chief executive, Action against Medical Accidents

Charity governance

As CEOs and senior leaders, you are responsible for ensuring good governance is a top priority at your organisation.

Ensuring your organisation is being run legally, safely and productively. It's a vital part of how civil society organisations operate and are held accountable.

Governance advice and support

Our member support team can help you to improve communication with your board before a situation reaches a crisis point.

The team can advise you on:

- A specific issue, challenge or area for development
- How to grow the sustainability and resilience of your organisation
- How to improve the working relationships between CEO, chair and trustees

→ For full details please visit our website

Governance resources

We have a range of governance resources, tools and templates available to members as a starting point to be developed with their chair and board. They can be adapted to suit your own charity and governance arrangements.

→ For full details please visit our website

Dynamic Duo

This one-day workshop explores how to balance the roles of CEO and chair and bring out the best in each other, looking at the relationship from both perspectives. It is also an opportunity for you to hear from and share ideas with your peers. Topics include:

- What does the CEO/chair relationship look like when it works well?
- Practical realities and experiences from chairs and CEOs
- How to establish and develop a supportive culture
- How to deal with conflict

→ For full details please visit our website

ACEVO's governance advice line is a wonderful resource for CEOs. I benefited enormously from their experience, expertise and support when I was handling a protracted and very thorny governance problem with my board. As a CEO you can feel isolated and under great pressure at these times so it's great to know that you have ACEVO's confidential support and guidance."

Frances Longley, CEO, FIGO

With pressure and expectation from all sides, being a CEO can sometimes be a difficult experience.

Sometimes when a CEO's relationship with their chair has broken down, they need support in trying to repair the relationship. Alternatively, a CEO may believe their job is at risk and want to understand their rights and options.

CEO in Crisis service

Since its creation, our CEO in Crisis service has been a lifeline to many third sector CEOs looking for support with a number of different issues they encounter.

Our CEO in Crisis service offers:

- A free assessment call with ACEVO experts in strict confidence
- Where required, legal advice and emotional support from leading experts*

If you feel this service is appropriate to your current situation, please contact the ACEVO team.

This service is only available to full members

→ Visit our website for more information

ACEVO helps you with all aspects of your leadership role.

Being a CEO can sometimes feel quite lonely. We're here to help you when you need it most by providing confidential advice and support.

As a busy CEO it's hard to know where to turn to for good advice and to share the load, no matter what you are facing we are here for you. Reach out to our advice and support team with any questions you may have, they are here to listen and support you. If they can't help directly, they'll point you in the right direction from within ACEVO's resources, an expert partner or another member.

→ Visit our website for more information

* Third party legal advice and emotional support will only be available to full members who have been in membership for three months or more.

Being a CEO can sometimes be a lonely and difficult experience. Our confidential and bespoke helplines will support you through tough times."

Jenny Berry, ACEVO senior support advisor

Peer support and learning

Peer support

Our mentoring scheme is a personal matching service run exclusively for our members.

Being a mentee

Peer mentoring is based around sharing knowledge and experience, and is a fantastic way of receiving guidance from those in the know while improving your professional development.

As an ACEVO member you gain access to our personal matching service to identify a mentor who will help you meet your challenges and fulfil your career goals.

Being a mentor

Being a mentor develops your own coaching and managerial skills and gives you unexpected insights and understanding. If you feel you have experience and knowledge to share, we'd welcome your involvement: please do get in touch.

→ Visit our website for more information

Peer learning

Peer learning groups provide a scheduled, safe and structured space, offering the time and space to think, reflect and learn alongside others. Engaging in peer learning can be an excellent way to develop and to gain support, constructive challenge and different perspectives on issues that you are facing in your leadership. It can also help you build close connections and relationships with a network of peers all over the country.

Available groups:

- Aspiring CEOs
- New CEOs (years 0-3 across all CEO roles in their career)
- Growing and established CEOs (3+ years in a CEO role)
 - Two groups, based on rolling need of members

→ Visit our website for more information

Mentoring another CEO is more like peer support, you definitely get as much out of it as they do. It provides a space to take time out and reflect with another brain and a different perspective.”

Anna Feuchtwang, CEO, National Children's Bureau

Leadership development

We are passionate about leadership development, improving skills and nurturing the leaders of today and tomorrow.

That's why we offer a range of workshops and courses, some available for non-members as well as members, which address the specific needs of chief executive and senior leadership roles.

Leadership development planning

Leadership development is all about building your knowledge, skills and capabilities.

We support you to become a better leader by continuing your personal development.

A free consultation with our leadership development expert will help you to reflect and explore your development needs, and create a tailored plan to meet them.

Our suite of online tools includes:

- Leadership development questionnaire and template plan
- Leadership development reflection plan
- Career development planner
- Stakeholder management tool

→ Visit our website for more information

Leadership learning workshops

Our one day courses cover all aspects of the CEO and senior leadership role. They are designed to strengthen your leadership skills in areas such as governance, building teams, change management and personal resilience.

→ Visit our website for more information

Leadership development programmes

We're excited to have launched two new programmes for Aspiring CEOs and New CEOs. Designed for leaders at different stages of their journey, both programmes will strengthen leadership capabilities in line with ACEVO's new strategy and leadership competencies framework. Participants will be supported to think strategically, collaborate effectively, and lead with innovation – emerging with enhanced decision-making, influence, and resilience to meet the complex challenges facing today's civil society leaders.

This course covers so much! It gives you great frameworks and approaches to understanding yourself, your peers and your team. I learnt so much about myself, my strengths and where I can get in my own way! It was helpful to have regular, dedicated time every fortnight to talk through ideas and experiences with a great group of people from across the sector. The 360 review was a goldmine of learning and insight and came at just the right time in the course to add value to every session. I would really recommend if you're working on your career development, or are in a leadership role.”

Charlotte Walshe, partnerships & impact director, In Kind Direct

Coaching

Coaching is helpful in supporting civil society leaders resolve a wide range of challenges at work. It enhances leadership development and helps to apply new skills to delivering change and managing workplace stress. While it does not offer a 'magic solution', coaching provides a useful space to talk about an issue, and having someone who is independent to listen, support and challenge you as you work out a solution, can lead to more constructive outcomes. Coaching can increase your self-awareness, build confidence and increase resilience. ACEVO membership offers you access to a pool of qualified and highly recommended executive coaches with a wide range of experience who offer their services at a discounted rate.

ACEVO's membership has been invaluable to me over the past decade in my development journey as CEO. I've gained great value from my membership, through the years, like building my network, developing my knowledge, gaining specialist leadership development and confidential support and advice in challenging times. Ten years on I still gain a lot from being a member of ACEVO and I think it's a vital network for civil society leaders."

Help to raise your voice

We provide an inspiring, collective influencing voice for our members

- Policy and influencing
- Updates and briefings

Help to raise your voice

ACEVO helps to shape the agenda and is a conduit for civil society leaders' voices in the places that matter. By encouraging and providing a space for discussion, we lead the improvement of the sector and stronger leadership and achieve political change by influencing and pursuing reforms.

Policy and influencing

ACEVO champions the voices of its members and represent their interests in key areas of importance to civil society.

ACEVO helps to shape the agenda and is a conduit for civil society leaders' voices in the places that matter. By encouraging and providing a space for discussion, we lead the improvement of the sector and stronger leadership and achieve political change by influencing and pursuing reforms. You can check the topics and themes ACEVO focus on in the influencing section of the website.

In addition to upholding our core principles, we are also committed to providing proactive and responsive assistance to our members, especially during times of crisis like the Covid-19 pandemic and the cost of living crisis.

Our Home Truths 2 programme was designed to challenge and support mainstream UK civil society to take serious practical action on anti-racism and race equity. We worked with stakeholders across civil society to offer practical resources and guidance through a targeted anti racism leadership programme for CEOs and the Race Equity Series of events and resources, open to all in civil society. The elements of the programme have contributed to converting the positive words from mainstream civil society on anti-racism and race equity into practical and powerful change.

ACEVO is a distinctive voice for leaders in the third sector. It's important to me that there is a voice for sector leaders which is separate and distinct from the sector organisations. We have different things to say and we need to be able to say them, ACEVO is very effective at putting that voice across to whoever needs to hear it, whether that's to government, the media or to other sector bodies."
